Dear Researchers,

The National Institute of Historical and Cultural Research (NIHCR) is a Centre of Excellence at the Quaid-i-Azam University, Islamabad. The Institute is publishing two research journals. One is an HEC recognized English journal, the Pakistan Journal of History and Culture (PJHC). The other one is Mujallah-i Tarikh wa Saqafat-i Pakistan published in Urdu.

The Pakistan Journal of History and Culture is amongst the most widely read research journals in Pakistan. It is being regularly published biannually since 1980 with some special issues on Quaid-i-Azam, Fatima Jinnah and the All-India Muslim League. Articles appearing in the journal are abstracted and indexed in the Periodica Islamica (Malaysia), Historical Abstracts (Singapore) and America: History and Life (USA). The Institute has devised a clear policy for the publication of different articles in its journals. As it is evident from the name of the Institute, articles submitted should contain elements relating to the history and culture of Pakistan. In addition, the journal has been publishing articles related to South Asia, Central Asia and other Muslim societies.

The present number arranges an array of articles for our valuable readers discussing multifarious topics. The first in line digs deep into history probing the roots of the idea of being 'God's bride' as well as tracing the use of bridal metaphor in the poetic composition of Indian Sufis from the time of their arrival in the Subcontinent to the fifteenth century. The second one makes a thorough effort to clear the concept of good and evil in the light of the study of a renowned scholar Amin Ahsan Islahi. Another article brings forth the factors behind the failure of Separatist Movement in East Punjab. The fourth article in row argues the leftist's approach to politics during the freedom struggle with particular focus on the provinces representing Muslims in majority. The second last of all, while comparing three different foreign welfare models, tries to figure out which Social Welfare System could be compatible with or suitable to Pakistan's socio-economic and geo-political ground realities. In no way the least, the last article takes a swipe at the shenanigans which impede the smooth functioning of democracy in Pakistan, and also it offers the remedies and ways to avoid and avert them.

As per running layout of the journal, the first page of the article should contain the title, name of the author and an abstract of the article. For the sake of uniformity, we have included a "Note to Contributors" on the back of the cover page. From now onwards, the PJHC will be following the format outlined in Sixteenth Edition of The Chicago Manual of Style.

According to the revised editorial policy of the PJHC, articles containing less than five thousand (5000) words as well as those of having corporate authors shall not be entertained.

The process of evaluation and blind peer reviewing is comprehensive. We have an internal review committee consisting of the Editor and Assistant Editors. The committee recommends an article for evaluation after preliminary assessment. The article then goes through a cycle of evaluation, editing, review and proof reading.

An acknowledgement letter is forwarded to the author, which should not be deemed as an acceptance letter. It is just to inform the author that the article is being sent for blind peer review. Then the article is sent to two appropriate scholars. Articles are evaluated on the recommendation of nationally and internationally known referees belonging to various disciplines. It is the policy of the Institute that the internal committee recommends at least two reviewers one local and one foreign for the evaluation of every article. If they recommend changes and suggestions, the article is sent back to the author for revision. After positive recommendation from the reviewers, an article is accepted for publication in the Pakistan Journal of History and Culture.
